

There are two facilitated concurrent sessions, participants are welcome to go between both, as the stations are similar in concept and are related...

1. Building Partnerships that Create Lasting Community Connections

This session will focus on mapping the physical connections from communities to the forest with an emphasis on partnership opportunities. The group will explore current and existing corridors (recreation and other) and any known planned corridors. What opportunities exist for new connections? The group will be utilizing multiple electronic data layers, hardcopy maps, as well as written materials and previous comments from constituents to guide, focus and inform the discussion.

- ✓ Outcomes for this session: Document corridors on hard-copy maps. Document suggested strategies for partnership involvement.

2. Focusing on What Matters most to Provide Quality Recreation Experiences

This session will discuss what recreation activities and specific places are important to providing recreation/historic/cultural experiences to visitors. The group will map areas that provide a focus for certain activities. The group will work on defining what recreation and cultural settings and places the Francis Marion is best suited to provide the public with it limited resources, answering the question "What is the Forest's niche?" The group will be using multiple maps and written materials.

- ✓ Tickler question for this session: Where do we focus our limited time and resources?
- ✓ Outcomes for this session: Document specific areas on hard-copy maps. Document drafts of forest niche or recreation zones.
